

BOOT CAMP

Where journalism meets environment
(New Delhi, November 4-15, 2013)

For mid-career journalists, development & environment communicators and all others who are keen to get a basic know how on environment development debate.

Contact: Sharmila Sinha
Email: sharmila@cseindia.org / cseindiasharmila@gmail.com
CENTRE FOR SCIENCE AND ENVIRONMENT
41, Tughlakabad Institutional Area, New Delhi-110 062
Ph: +91 11 40616000 (Ext: 300); Fax: +91 11-29955879
Mobile: +91 9818482018 Website: www.cseindia.org

LEARN ABOUT

Key environmental challenges, including ecological rights, natural resource management, food security, land tenures, environment & health concerns, climate change, urban growth, pollution control and environmental governance

TRAVEL

Field visit to explore & report on eco-restoration efforts led by communities in India

WRITE AND REPORT

Supervised reporting and writing. Publish an e-magazine by the end of the course

INTERACT

Engage with leading environmental journalists, development professionals, academics, environmental activists

HANDS-ON WORKSHOPS

Hone your writing and editing skills — magazine and web writing, hard news and news features. Environmental research workshops to help you better understand and dig deeper into stories

WORK AS A TEAM

Understand editorial processes, discuss story ideas, conduct group research, present case studies, collaborate on reporting, editing, e-magazine design assignments

To apply: Submit a 500-word SOP & résumé/CV by October 15, 2013

Course fee: INR 10,000/- all inclusive (training materials, accommodation, all field visits)
Some Fellowships available

Course details:

<http://cseindia.org/node/2607>

ANIL AGARWAL ENVIRONMENT TRAINING INSTITUTE
38, Tughlakabad Institutional Area, New Delhi-110 062